NATION FACES BIG DEFICIT.

Revenues Next Fiscal Year Will Be Inadequate.

Secretary MacVeagh Urges Currency Reform.

Exposure of Custom Frauds Saves Ten Millions.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Strongly urging radical reform of the "unsafe and unscientific banking and currency system of the United States," Franklin MacVeagh, Secretary of the Treasury, today warns Congress in his annual report submitted today that the Federal government, as long as the present scheme exists, will be "exclusively responsible for the commercial, industrial and social disasters which now from panics and attack directly or indirectly, every home in the nation. He outlined his idea of the necessary general provisions of an independent banking system which should bring the banks into organized co-operation and provide for a central agency through which they could work together, free of political or trust control.

PREDICTS DEFICIT.

The secretary foresees a deficit of $22,556,023, exclusive of Panama Canal expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913.

For the current fiscal year, ending June 30, 1913, Mr. MacVeagh estimates that there will be a surplus of $40,200,000, exclusive of Panama Canal expenditures and ordinary disbursements of $1,500,000 including the canal transactions. He estimates receipts for this year at $71,000,000 and ordinary disbursements at $6,900,000.

Mr. MacVeagh says the people are helpless under existing evils of the present financial system. Its liability to sudden constraint and restriction is always a part of the nation's financial consciousness.

RELIEF FEATURES.

A relief measure reforming the banking and currency system, the Secretary declares, "must include, among its necessary features, provisions for never-failing reserves and never-failing currency, and for the personal, scientific and reliable work of the national organization and organized co-operation of the banks; for a central agency, to represent and act for the organized and co-operative banks—this agency to be securely free from political or trust control, and to have a central agency having adequate and intimate supervision of it; for independent banking

WANTS UNITED STATES TO OWN COAL MINES.

Boston Mayor Believes in Municipal Rather Than Federal Control of Dock Sites—President Starts Rivers and Harbor Congress by Favoring Mississippi Appropriation Only if Flood Prevention Is Object.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston made the declaration in an address here today before the National Rivers and Harbors Congress that the United States should own the coal mines of the Mississippi River between forty and fifty million dollars for the Mississippi improvement. He said that before all other considerations must be given to the coal dump near Scoville, Ill., which would have profited from the sale of the property, were drawn today from Edward J. Williams of Dunnmore, Pa., before the Senate Court of Impeachment.

The abolition of all assay offices in the country except the one at New York is urged by Mr. MacVeagh. All assay work, he said, should be done at New York at the mint.

Secretary MacVeagh announces his intention of reforming the Treasury Department's business methods by a scheme for the payment of government obligations in such a manner as to avoid exchange on government checks.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Other recommendations by the Secretary include: Construction of four revenue cutters and a building program of at least two cutters yearly in future; provision for disabled and old miners of life-saving service; reorganization of the opium traffic; and the creation of a bureau to "supervise the expression of laws" co-operating with Congress to make their meaning plain to executive officials who enforce them.

WATER COMPETITION.

The railroads of the country can not carry all the business, the Mayor said, and should have plenty of water competition. He declared that when the President made the opening address at the Congress, he favored the expansion of the United States government and the States in the Mississippi Valley between forty and fifty million dollars for the Mississippi improvement. He said that before all other considerations must be given to the coal dump near Scoville, Ill., which would have profited from the sale of the property, were drawn today from Edward J. it has been pretty thoroughly dis-

Supreme Court decree of yesterday against the Harriman merger of the was the greatest coup in railroad history, to the credit of the of interpretation of the law which marks it, according to Atty.-Gen. Wickersham, as one

Harriman's successor as head of the combination, withholds his most, but that it is not relished by the selling of the bonds. However, it has been pretty thoroughly discussed, market sentiment was but

Death of Texas Man Reveals Him as Ex-convict.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Dec. 4.—Hans Saito, the beautiful Japanese girl who is alleged to have been kidnapped by slavers in Tacoma several months ago and was rescued by Federal officials in a house on Stockton street, San Francisco, on the night of October 2, was married in the Federal building today to Tetsuro Saito, a hotel employee, her rescuer. Saito testified that they were engaged, appeared in an heroic light in testimony given before the Federal grand jury yesterday. The girl and Saito had been married; that after her disappearance, Tacoma, she had been sent to Seattle and later to San Francisco, finally guiding the Federal officials to the place where she was confined. During his pursuit Saito received two terrible beatings from the captors of the girl.

The grand jury heard the testimony against the alleged slavers yesterday. One of the jurors suggested that the couple end their troubles by marriage, and the young people assented. So the wedding took place as witnesses and the grand jurors giving the ring and presents to the couple.

TOLD KU KLUX SECRETS.

Death of Texas Man Unveils Identity as Convict Who Had Escaped in Reconstruction Days.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENTON (Tex.) Dec. 4.—The death of John Ellis, well known here for thirty-five years, resulted in the revelation today that Ellis really was Joe Johnson, who was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in Buchanan County, Ga., in 1873. He escaped after serving three of the fifteen years' sentence and came here. Nobody suspected the secret of Ellis' identity until it was announced by J. C. Clegg, a reliable friend to whom "Ellis" had told it five years ago, with the request that it be given to the world after his death. This was further confirmed by court records of Harrison County, Ga., records showing that the man, identified as Johnson, was shot in self-defense by a man who intended to kill him for revealing Ku Klux Klan secrets to the Federal grand jury at Atlanta in reconstruction days.

HOLD-UP, EMS OWN LAWYER.
Man Who Robbed Saloon-keeper and Found Guilty Scores Press and Court Officers.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Dec. 4.—John McLeone, charged with holding up George Ruptert, a local saloon man and at the point of a revolver robbing him of $104 and a diamond ring, was found guilty this afternoon, the jury being out but twenty minutes. He is to be tried at his own attorney. He excused the District Attorney, the Sheriff and the newspapers. He promised the jury he would enter a plea of guilty if they would acquit him. He declared the money did not belong to the saloon keeper. Ruptert, however, had turned into a conspiracy to steal it, the hold-up being a hoax. He said that if he were convicted at all he wanted a life sentence, as he was broken in health and did not expect to live long. He was formally a voter.

The courtroom was thronged with spectators.

BLACK ART UNDER INDICTMENT.
Man Who Says He Invented "Black Art" That Would Return After Being Spent Runs Up Against Jury.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Felix Markiewicz, alleged expert in "black art" who said he had invented a dollar that would return to its original owner after it had been spent, was indicted by the Federal grand jury late today. Markiewicz was charged with having duped many persons in New York, Chicago and other large cities. He sold his "black art" secrets at prices ranging from $1.00 to $7.50. Markiewicz, among other things, advertised:

"How to win the love of every girl; how to become invisible so that you might do as you please without being seen; how to compel gold to return; stolen property; make a compass give good milk in unlimited quantities; read another person's thoughts; see angels in the mirror; become magnetic and attract your boss to you so that you may have the best position wherever you work."

BURGLAR SHOT BY VICTIM.

Dying Gardener Turns Loss His Automatic on Boy Thief Whose Companion Escapes.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Shot through the body just above the heart

by a boy burglar, Angelo Tiscomia, a gardener, lay on the floor of his home this afternoon and poured a stream of bullets from an automatic pistol at the young man who wounded him. One bullet passed through the boy's groin. He fell, probably mortally wounded. Tiscomia will die.

"What are you doing here?" was Tiscomia's demand when he came upon two men ransacking the house.

Robert Schaefer, 19 years old, is the same name as the wounded burglar. His companion escaped, but a posse formed on the moment, took up his pursuit.

SLAIN WOMAN NEGRO'S WIFE.

Reading About Johnson-Cameron Affair Believed to Have Incited Bride to Fatal Shooting.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOGANSPORT (Ind.) Dec. 4. (Exclusive Dispatch.) As a result of the killing here last night of Mrs. May Copple, who was the white wife of a negro, by Mrs. Joseph Lange, a bride of last Monday, the Johnson-Cameron-Tiscomia episode has again drawn into the affair as one of the reasons for the murder. Friends of Mrs. Lange say she has been closely reading the Lucille Cameron-Jack Johnson case in Chicago and that she has spoken freely about the girl. It is also said she frequently commented on the fact that Mrs. Copple married a negro.

It is believed here feeling against Mrs. Copple on account was partly responsible for the murderous anger that led to the shooting. Mrs. Lange is well known to the police.

Mrs. Copple was esteemed by her neighbors, despite the fact that she was the wife of a colored man.

At the wedding supper of Mrs. Lange, Mrs. Copple, who was present, is alleged to have said to another guest that Lange had taken "an old and worthless woman for a life partner."

This disparaging remark was the cause of the shooting.

PIITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—A petition for the annulment of a $50,000 policy on the life of Cornelius Brierly, a grocer, was filed yesterday by his wife at Clayville, Pa., as filed in the county court here today.

It is alleged in the petition that Brierly carried insurance policies aggregating more than $200,000 on the day of his death, and that most of this, including the one for which annulment is asked, had been taken out within a month before he was killed.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society filed the petition.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 4. (Exclusive Dispatch.) Francois Drouin, Consul for Belgium at San Francisco, and Miss Octave Hannan were married here late this afternoon under circumstances so closely guarded that few of the facts of the case were obtainable.

License Clerk Jasper Martin said:

"The facts that appear in the license are all that I am at liberty to give out. These are that the bride is a native of Belgium and that the Rev. Father William Dunn, pastor of the church, said the Miss Octave Hannan was bridegroom and that John Bragan of San Francisco attended the groom.

From the County Clerk's office the couple were St. Joseph, Calif.

There was a wait of nearly an hour before the marriage ceremony was performed by Father Joseph Malaise.

The Rev. Father William Dunn, pastor of the church, said the Miss Octave Hannan was bridegroom and that John Bragan of San Francisco attended the groom.

One man declared he would give $50 and tens and fives came in change.

The dispatch says: "This city has been thrown into a frenzy of excitement by the news that Jack Johnson has married Lucille Cameron, wife of a negro hunting organization near Shreveport to lynch Jack Johnson.

"In one of the cafes last night more than twenty white men declared they were ready to contribute to a fund to pay the posse which had read

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Students' League Banquet.

The banquet of the Students' League will be given tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock, in Shrine Auditorium. It is expected to be an affair of much magnitude and the address by Dr. W. S. Stevenson of Occidental College will be well worth while.

Bank Error Corrected.

Through a typographical oversight in the "Los Angeles" Column of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, in Wednesday's Times, an error was made under Resources in the Cash and Sight Exchange item. The correct figures are $8,349,570.98.

Noted Evangelist.

Dr. B. Carradine, an evangelist of national fame, will speak at the First National Bank of Los Angeles, at 7 o'clock, at Pentel Hall this evening, and at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The public is cordially invited to hear him.

Mass Chase Today.

The Building Committee of the Federation of State Societies met last night and reported on ten or twelve different available sites for the erection of the proposed State building. Four sites are now under consideration and it is expected that the purchase of one of these will be consummated today or tomorrow. A Campaign Committee was authorized to take up the matter of securing the money for the first payment on the property.

Men Who Fix It.

The organization of Assessors and Surveyors will meet here next Tuesday and at that time the Board of Equalization in its entirety will also be here. The Hollenbeck has been chosen as headquarters for the convention. Board members who will be on hand are: A. H. Nye, chairman of San Francisco; J. W. Reikin of the same city; T. M. Eby, secretary, Oakland; R. E. Collins, Redding; John Mitchell, Sacramento, and Alex Brown, Sacramento.

Christmas.

A mammoth Christmas bazaar will open this afternoon at the Union Avenue Methodist Church, Union and Court streets. The affair will include dinners tonight and Friday night and will continue three days. The church has a large hall and a room containing a miniature department store with many booths and a bewildering array of goods for barter. No class of goods likely to appeal to holiday shoppers has been overlooked, and all have been donated by members, and the many friends of the church.

See "Movies" Made.

Several hundred city officials, county officers and members of the Traffic Club were the guests of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company at the Hollywood outdoor theater Tuesday. There were not only short moving pictures, but special Pacific Electric cars conveyed the traffic men to Hollywood and automobile drivers who wanted to see the hills. The film company consists of about a dozen leading moving-picture concerns.

Postage Bonds Popular.

Postmaster Harrison announced yesterday that applications for postal money orders for delivery on January 1, 1913, amount to $17,228 as against the first issue of January 1, 1912, of $4,540 and the second issue of July 1, 1912, of $4,400.

The continually increasing prospective bond buyers indicate that Americans lead all nations in their desire to invest in the securities of their native country, fulfilling the oft-repeated prophecy that Russia has four, Sweden, Turkey, Wales, France, Japan and Prussia one each; Spain two, Germany five, Ireland two and Italy three.

Strange Blaze.

STREAK OF FIRE
ONE BLOCK LONG.

COLLISION PLUS FOOL COSTS HANDSOME AUTO.

Flanders and Simplex 'Come Together, latter Springs Leak and Gasoline Runs Down Gutter to Next Corner, Where Village Idiot Touches It Off—Street in Panic.'

A string of fire almost a block long, leading to a $5,000 Simplex auto that was almost entirely consumed, as the result of an auto collision and a practical joker's match applied to the car, was extinguished when a tank in one of the cars, then a main tank, into a panic about 5 o'clock last evening. Enough fire-fighting apparatus to extinguish a good-sized fire was on hand when the trouble was over. The man who touched the match to the escaping gasoline made his escape in the confusion. The burned machine belonged to H. M. Hoffman of No. 428 South Broadway.

The Hoffman car was standing near the corner of Third and Main streets when it was run into from the rear by a small Flanders car, the driver of which also got away, striking the tank with him. The collision caused all captives that were present when the reel is run off.

Business Man Tells How to Live for Less.

Says Poor Man Pays for Rich
Man's Service.

Remedy Lies in Co-operation and Square Dealing.

That the first step toward reducing the cost of living should be to put all business on a cash basis and to eliminate dishonesty and falsehood from all business dealings is the theory propounded to a party of business and professional men at a luncheon at the Alexandria yesterday by J. S. Crutchfield, senior member of the firm of Crutchfield & Woolfolk, Pittsburgh. Crutchfield has bought and sold produce in most parts of the United States for many years and believes men are becoming better. He says that honesty and truthfulness must supplement trickery and shabby practices not only because men inherently desire to be honest but because modern business has demonstrated that it is the best policy.

Among those who discussed the question along the line of Crutchfield's theory were W. M. Kline and Joseph Simpson of the Kline-Simpson Produce Company; Arthur J. Waters, president of the Citizens National Bank; J. W. Phelps, president of the First National Bank; A. L. Bailey of the Western Land Company; Thomas Newton, E. R. Rivers of the Rivers Produce Company; J. B. Jacobs, vice-president of the Simpson Company; E. F. Neumann of the North American Freight Exchange, and George J. Blech, district freight agent of the Southern Pacific.

THE COST OF LIVING.

"The high cost of living is a question that most of us are talking about," said Crutchfield, "but few of us have done much thinking. The economic factor is the most important considerations. The chief cause of distress among the people of the large cities is due to the fact that the budget of this country is being handled on a false basis. The barter for credit instead of with cash.

"All commodities ought to be sold on basis of cash at the store. The man of means avails himself of the service of selling on credit. The poor man rarely asks for credit and as a rule takes home his parcels, but he helps pay for the service. This is neither honest nor just. I would eliminate the credit system to a different service, but the man who gets the credit should pay for it in proportion to what it is worth and the man who has his parcels delivered should pay for the service. The man who is willing to save on the cost of his purchases by taking them from the store should have the opportunity to do so.

CASH, NOT CREDIT.

"The credit system as now handled is also bad for the so-called middle classes. It makes men think they have money when frequently their resources are not sufficient to liquidate their debts. A cash basis for small dealers a better chance and consequently provide more centers of distribution. The produce business is a good place to start the reform and even if the whole business community men are not yet willing to agree to such a plan it will be given a trial. For I am going to do it. It is bound to come some time and the sooner better. The world is bound to change with the tears, rained softly upon the emerald pall of the grasses lying lightly above the ashes of the dead, and sobbing prayers, rising like incense from the loyal hearts that burned, have forever haloed this beautiful resting place of our comrades.

"But here—this building of which they sometimes dream here—where in exultant life with eager hearts they lived and wrought and suffered and died—here is their monument. Not along the battlemented walls nor the stone towers, nor the high hill above the city roofs, its crenelated crown of granite, nor the eagle of bronze that makes its eyrie in the lofty parapets—fitting memorials for men in iron will, but the one that bears the soul of living hearts. The massive monument throbbing with the activities of daily life is thrilled with a sense of the presence of the heroes whose memory it glorifies.

"The agony, the fear, and the horror of that night of explosion and flame have passed away. Time, healer of all hurts, has laid its hand of gentleness upon the hearts that ached. The burden of high prices was laid, and was met with a stern answer, by Joseph Simpson, who said: "Steel is worth money and it costs money." The foundation of business is credit," said E. F. Wagner of Chicago, and it was well-answered. The acting business for the promoted expansion, which tends to lower prices. But the produce men cannot be the reformers. It is the one consistent line of business which is not handled by credit. Business is too selfish and business men too greedy to adopt any plan which might endanger profits or capital."

CONDENSED COUNTRY CLUB.

Ministers' Meeting Adopts Resolution Against the Vernon Resort and Asking for Action.

The following communication received by The Times yesterday sets forth the attitude of a number of ministers of the city toward the Vernon Country Club:

The Methodist ministers' meeting of this city at its regular session December 2, unanimously adopted a resolution, and a committee on Public Morals to the immediate action regarding reported moral conditions obtaining at the Vernon Country Club; and to express to The Times its opposition to the organization for the stand it has taken in the matter. Pursuant to this action, the committee wishes to state its regret that such conditions exist to disgrace and damage our community.

It desires also to express fervent appreciation of a fearless press that will expose and assist law-abiding citizens in ridding our city of such crime breeders as are destroying our society. We wish to pledge to you our hearty support in all such commendable work.

"Then Gregory gently pressed the sand he held in his extended hand. And drip—drip—drip, red as rubies in the sunlight, fell the sacred blood of the martyr, the last sacrament of Rome's fearful Household, a libation to the memory of fidelity that had endured to the end, laughing at torture and triumphing over death. The fairest pearl of the oceans are not so precious, all the red and gold of the mountain caverns are not so beautifully precious, as the heart drops of brave men, who stand by their post and firm, for heaven-born principles have left for our rearing truths they have sown in their blood."

Strange Case.

FOUND SANE BY JURY
AFTER STRANGE FIGHT.Miss Elizabeth Thompson,
Whose sanity was questioned and established in a sensational trial.

THESE PEOPLE are not afraid of her," declared Attorney Judge E. Brown, addressing the jury yesterday afternoon, at the close of the trial of Miss Elizabeth Thompson charged with being insane by the board of the First Methodist Church. "No, they are afraid what might say, and so they want to keep her women to the madhouse. It is a new church, you know."

Brown urged that members of the First Church by their gospel had Miss Thompson to lose position. "The worst gospel in the church is the choir," he said.

At night at 7:45 o'clock the jury met again to find a verdict, finding Miss Thompson sane.

The trial abounded in sensations.

Witnesses testified that Miss Thompson had threatened to kill herself in the First Church; she had taken a gun out of her Central Park and on another occasion created a scene at the First Church, when she had refused to make a statement of alleged grievances from the pulpit. Her alleged vagaries were detailed at length, the witnesses as a sign of the opinion that she was insane, and it was destined that she should herself or someone else, Miss Moore, who had examined and found her a paranoiac, and the experts, answering a hypothetical question put to them by Hartley, believed her to be insane.

It was said, however, that she had a small beginning, notably at the Pierce Brothers' undertaking establishment, and had grown until they found her former close friends members of the First Church.

Her memory was poor and explicit; her explanations were clear and convincing, and how after she had low self-esteem, the result of her friends, she had obtained a house near New High Street through a member of the church. This house, a real estate agent said, was what he termed "a real charmer."

Exploded the stories of her attempt to kill herself in the First Church by showing that instead of a spoon to take liquid poison, she had taken from a bottle of tablets ordered by her doctor. And when she moved to a house to avoid an unpleasant emanating from the feet of a man who was edging up to a Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Benjamin Carter of South Beacon street. Miss Carter has just returned from Europe where she has been studying music for the past five years. (Photo by Lindstedt.)

MR. and Mrs. Randolph Huntington Miner will return tomorrow after a month at the Plaza Hotel, New York City. Both are heartily glad to be nearing the West again, although they were brilliantly entertained in the big eastern metropolis. Mr. Miner, a son of the writer and a thoroughgoing of the south that she never can forgive New York its snows nor many another unpleasant feature. While her admiration for Gotham is not confined exclusively to its dreams of art and opera, however, she says that every night she is in New York she makes a little prayer to the West out of gratitude that she comes from here and will soon come back.

Miss Miner says that it takes only a little visit in the East to convince one that for all of the luxury and refinements of the great cities back there the West has an incomparable advantage in its simplicity, wholesomeness, love of beauty and appreciation of both strong and delicate individuality.

Mrs. Wilson's Tea.

Mrs. Erasmus Wilson will give an informal tea in her delightful home, No. 7, Chester Place, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, to the ladies who are interested in the work that she does for the woman's athletic club and that the home of the organization shall be completed and occupied within a year. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Matthew Robertson, W. I. Hollingsworth, B. Barrett, W. M. Hollingsworth, T. Tutt, Richard Gird, M. A. Cooley, W. H. Jameson and C. L. Higbee.

During the afternoon, several of the women who are members of the advisory board, will give little chats as to the work that is to be done, and what it means not only to the life of the women of Los Angeles, but to the city and the entire Southwest.

The entire country is keenly interested in this club movement as evidenced by the number of applications for non-resident membership received from women of the East. One woman, writing from New York, stated that, "I have no place but two of the winter months in Southern California, she knows of the advantages and comforts of such an organization, and that she does not propose to be without them, when they are obtainable."

This is the second of a series of teas being given by the women of the city, whose civic pride has been aroused, and who propose that the project shall be a great success.

Home Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. L. Pritchard, No. 919 Fair Oaks, South Pasadena, was beautifully decorated last evening with enchanting carnations, huge bows of tulips and garlands of asparagus plumes, the entire arrangement, for the detection of forest fires in the Angeles forest, equaled by that of no other forest reserve in the country.

WHEN MINUTES SEEMED YEARS.

TENDERFOOT'S JOURNEY NEAR TRAGIC END.

Healthseeker Extricates Horse from Railroad Trestle Just in Time to Escape Death from Fast Train.
Now He's Not Only Alive—but Feels Well.

With a foreleg of his horse caught in a trestle of the Southern Pacific across the Colorado River, just above the Colorado River, within a few hundred miles of the end of a 2300-mile journey, William L. Gilleland almost decided that the end of the long trip was at hand.

"It was thrilling since I had timed the trains expected across the span and knew that it was a matter of minutes in getting the animal free or being crushed to death by a limited train that was almost due," he said as he told of some of the incidents of his long horseback ride from Sherman, Texas, to San Francisco.

He had ridden off his horse at the Hollenbeck early yesterday morning, a picture of health which was one of the things he sought when he started out.

Gilleland says it was an anxious hour when he was forced to move first one leg and then another of his horse to the different ties in an endeavor to extricate the hoof which had been caught in a peculiar manner.

"As the moments passed and effort after effort proved徒劳, I began to count the moments to the end, when suddenly the horse tipped to one side, gave a little lurch and was free," he said. "It was then a race to where it was possible to jump from the trestle and only a few moments later I was on the ground, running along at a terrific rate, tore past."

This was only one of many experiences. When he left Wheeling for a western journey he decided to make a good start and set out from Sherman to Yellowstone Park. "On the map that looked like a fairly easy task," he said, "and like a tenderfoot I essayed the journey. From the very first I was disappointed in the Big Horn Mountains and across the basin of the same name, there were several exciting incidents like lack of water, and lost trails. Yellowstone Park was magnificent as seen from a saddle, but I was disappointed in the Salt Lake and from Salt Lake to Lee's Ferry, where I crossed the Grand Canyon of the Colorado."

While traveling through the Navajo lands Gilleland came across an old warrior who was a particular fan of his hair, tied with a shower of white tulips, was carried.

Before the ceremony, Miss Esther Bedell sang: "When Sons are Sweet." The bride, a young woman from a room with little Gwendolyn Baird, who was gowned in a white French frock, the orchestra played the popular wedding march, and softly during the ceremony.

Mr. F. Board, president of the University of Southern California, conducted the service, which was read beneath a beautiful lattice work of similes and tulips, erected in front of the large French window. This was further enhanced by large gold and brass baskets filled with enchanting carnations and ferns, and the base of the lattice work was banked in artistic profusion with kentia palms and the advantages of the trip.

The bride's table was placed on the porch, which had been screened in with canvas, and covered with ivy. Embellishing the center of the table was the bride's cake on which were initials of the young couple in white, and scattered over the cloth were pink carnations and ferns and pink tulips tied in bows.

Only the immediate relatives, close friends and neighbors attended the wedding service, which was read at 7:30 o'clock. This was followed at 8:30 o'clock by a reception to which invitations were extended to 200 guests.

At the conclusion of a northern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Knight will be at home to their many friends after January 1 at Elliott place.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN AND MEN BY OLIVE GRAY

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: A secret for the ear of the fleshy lady! The girls and women who have the swimming craze are losing ground of flesh per swim. Buy pool tickets!

They invent a new kind of parasol on Broadway. It shall be made after the shape of a small sunshade and on the side it may be whatever it will; but on the "spur" shall be mirror, and whether is a thing of beauty or not, depends upon the carrier. The idea of this is to stand up Broadway and notice impressions of those who faced me. Had it been after Christmas I would have thought either that they loved them and they had it by the absence of gifts or that Santa Claus hose had unbound so that everything really cared for had sifted out through the holes. Dear me, such snoring the noses and such a way of eyes and twisting up of muscles! I was glad I did happen to meet anyone whom I loved, for I would certainly thought that they were angry with me or else perhaps I might have loved them even after. It is what a change a mere ex-something makes. But with your soul, you could not see they were looking and I would add to the pleasant share of Broadway to have surveillance exercised. A perfectly conducted countenance would be better than the scowling masks they lay along unsupervised.

Your little girl has a dear which she especially loves. Take her to be fitted just people are fitted, and present for Christmas a hand-made set of garments. Fashion's Spell.

Street coats are fashioned of black chintz, with large collars of fur. White pearl buttons are used for fastening.

When tailored suits are trimmed with fur, the effect is complete if a large soft muff is carried to match the trimming of the suit.

The plain frocks of black, dark blue or grayish are charmingly relieved by cuffs and collars of Venetian and Bohemian lace.

A very pretty muff for the young girl is made of velvet, of a shade to harmonize with her suit. Shaded borders are again centered.

Many of the newest types spread over the entire front of a blouse and extend around over the shoulder.

The very smart afternoon gowns are made of velvet and trimmed with fur. Such furs as caracul, Persian lamb and skunk are effectively used.

BATTLE ROYAL.

The Greeks captured 26,000 Turkish soldiers and officers at Salonica. It may be pretty bad when Greek meets Greek, but it is nothing compared with what happens when Greek meets Turk.

THE DEAD MARCH.

A Roosevelt reserved quarters at a Chicago hotel for the mourning meeting of the Progressives to be held there Friday. The Windy City may be windier than before, but at that we fail to see any occasion to waste telegraph tolls in making hotel reservations. Nobody has to come early to avoid the rush at this kind of a funeral.

A BUILDER.

A plan of Representative Mann of Illinois to have Congress make Col. Goethals a full general in the army will be acceptable to the American people. Dewey was given such rank in the navy when he captured Manila Bay, and Col. Goethals did a bigger and better thing for his country as the chief engineer and principal builder of the Panama Canal.

LEND A HAND.

Persons with money and a good disposition should not fail to attend the Florence Crittenton Home reception and bazaar Friday afternoon and so be of some help to a worthy cause. The rescue work in this city is now twenty years old. Identified with it for many years have been some of the best-known Christian and charitable workers in the city. During the last year the home offered shelter to forty-nine unfortunate young women and not a death occurred among the little mothers or their children. The present home is at No. 1633 Bunker street. It can accommodate only twenty girls at any one time and has hospital facilities for but six. For two or three years all the funds contributed at the annual reception have been put in the bank to the credit of their new building, which is much needed.

MAKING OFF WITH THE BONE.

For generations Bosnia and Herzegovina crouched under the Turkish yoke without exciting the sympathies or moving the action of Austria. Russia went to war with Turkey and crowded the Sultan back into Constantinople very much as the Russians are doing today.

Bosnia and Herzegovina were freed. That is to say, they were freed from Turkey. Whereupon Austria benevolently assimilated them. The white-mantled Kaiser at Vienna emulated the example of the little dog who, seeing two big dogs fighting for a bone, quietly made off with the bone. The absorption of these countries was not entirely completed until the Mikado had administered a much-needed castigation to the Czar.

The powers of Europe may, as a result of the pending contest, permit the victorious Bulgarians and Servians and Montenegrins and Greeks to form a Balkan confederacy and they may not. In this western world, with our crude ideas of statesmanship, we have an idea that the spoils of war belong to the victor and not to a rank outsider.

POPULAR DRINKS.

In Constantinople the stoical Turks are giving their drinks such war names as "Tchatalidzg" or "Adrianolet relief"—so as to drown their reverses. Many great men have been immortalized on cigar boxes; why not introduce new drinks to perpetuate the deeds of our present local "ring" leaders? This may be borrowing from the Turk, but our councillors have borrowed other things equally unspeakable.

For instance, an "Earl eye-opener" should become a popular morning drink in the orange and lemon-growing districts, while an "Eddie Pink-Tight Lemonade" could be added to the new beverages at the soda fountains. A "Lisner Royal-Big-Four," followed by a "Brundage Bitters" as a side chaser should be served the guests at every "Good Government" banquet. "Holy Hibb" might or might not catch on at Sacramento, but an "Alexander Pop," guaranteed to be harmless, is bound to find favor at Sunday-school picnics. A factory to turn out Goo-Goo drinks—with of course all competition first of all carefully eliminated—may be the next municipal venture.

WISHING FOR THINGS.

People used to say if wishes were horses beggars might ride. The truth is that if a man wishes a thing hard enough it is mighty likely to happen to him. There is a young man in this town who once lived in the cold and cruel East. He used to go about his work muttering to himself, "Wish I got $50 a week." Six months from the time he started this his pay roll jumped to that figure. Then he began to go about saying, "Wish I could meet a girl I liked." He kept this up a month and one afternoon a woman came to his desk on business. The minute he looked at her he knew his bachelor days were numbered, and they were. "Wish I had $1500" was his next guess and he had it within a year.

Yet after all the successful designer and builder of air craft, as a promoter of progress, should be honored equally with the brave men who demonstrate the possibilities of the various inventions. Perhaps, too, when the construction is faulty, they should be held responsible for the failures—since they know a human life is at stake. The future conduct of the air depends as surely on the engineer in his shop, the draughtsman at his desk, the scientist at his figures, as on the skill and care and courage of the pilot handling the delicately poised air machine.

When Grahame White has unearthed an engineer to build him four 250-horse-power engines and scientifically apply the power, discovered a chemist to supply petrol that shall not overload the planes, dug up a mathematician to calculate every strain and stress on every part of the structure so that in an Atlantic storm he can declare

"THE BATTLE GOES ON"—FOR WAERTS!

The Times enters upon another year of its existence with the comforting assurance that its efforts in behalf of the public welfare are appreciated by the readers and patrons who have helped to make it the strong journal that it is widely recognized to be.

The people may for a time be led astray by demagogues, and grafters, and pretenders, but the instincts of the masses are in the direction of order and law, and such freedom of action as does not conflict with the rights of others and the liberty and prosperity and greatness of their country.

The Times has ever consulted and advocated and been loyal to the best interests of the people. Its motto has ever been that the noblest principle is always the truest policy. That the people have appreciated its endeavor is evidenced not merely by its wide circulation and immense patronage, but in other unmistakable ways also.

A striking demonstration of the popular feeling toward it was given by the large numbers of citizens who visited its new home yesterday to bid God's blessing upon the paper and the Phalanx that stands behind it. The greeting was not confined to any class. Men who toll, "captains of industry," bankers and clerks, scientists and artisans, the hardened hands of honest toil and the soft hands of lovely women were outstretched to grasp the willing hands of the proprietors and the staff. Inmates of palaces and cottages crowded the elevators and climbed the stairs, and there were hearts in the outstretched hands. It was the voice of the people—all the people, whether high or humble, rich or poor, that spoke their admiration for the journal which for nearly a third of a century has held aloft the banner of Industrial Freedom and the rights of man, and has never lowered that high standard by so much as an inch.

SOUTH AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT.

European activities in South American countries are assuming proportions that may some day bring them in sharp contact with the Monroe doctrine and compel the United States either to abandon that doctrine or incur the risk of war with a European power.

An English corporation entitled "The Amazon and Land Commission Company" has been granted by the state of Para—a part of Brazil—an area of 60,000 square kilometers of land—an area twice the size of Belgium. Another large concession of a similar nature was made to the same company in the state of Mato Grosso.

The Rio Janeiro press is filled with warnings against the policy of these concessions and some are clamoring for a law requiring citizenship or a preliminary declaration of intention to acquire citizenship as a prerequisite to enable a foreigner to acquire title by purchase to land. The federal government of Brazil has no power under the constitution to interfere with state grants to land, unless the lands granted are located on the borders of the republic. In the case of the Para grant the land, although not actually on the border, is yet in the vicinity of British Guiana.

The individual states of Brazil have been effecting foreign loans. The Federal government, while it has no power to prevent this practice, has discouraged it and has substantially notified foreign creditors that default should be made in the payment of interest the Federal government has no power to come to the rescue of the insolvent state.

On the Pacific Coast of South America the Farquhar syndicate is making steady progress in the construction of the longitudinal railroad north and south, and the completion of the Anca-La Pan Railroad, and the immense harbor works initiated in Valparaiso. The projects of the Farquhar system will have a far-reaching effect on Pan-American trade. Peru has vast plans for crossing the Andes and tapping the immense resources of inner South America by railroads that are to be of enormous benefit to the Panama Canal.

The Farquhar system now owns in connection with the roads with which it is allied over 4000 miles of rail and controls the Amazon River Steam Navigation Company.

It is evident that an enormous industrial development in South America will immediately follow the completion of the Panama Canal.

DIVIDED HONORS.

Claude Grahame White, the English aviator, than whom there has been no more successful aviator in the history of the world, is planning the greatest feat as yet attempted by the many intrepid defiers of the laws of gravity. This is the crossing of the Atlantic in an aeroplane. He promises to make the attempt as soon as he can get a machine built that offers reasonable hopes of success.

We cannot help admiring the magnificent courage and optimism of our world-wide aviators in the face of constant failure, accident and death. For no science has ever been attacked by so many determined and undiscouragable adherents as the science of flying. As the ones who take the risks and dare the results, the operators of the airships are naturally more in the public limelight. If Claude Grahame White succeeds in flying across the Atlantic Ocean he will earn, as a pioneer of science, a fame and a name hardly second to that of Thomas Edison. Moreover, he will deserve the ovation he is sure to win from an admiring public.

Yet after all the successful designer and builder of air craft, as a promoter of progress, should be honored equally with the brave men who demonstrate the possibilities of the various inventions. Perhaps, too, when the construction is faulty, they should be held responsible for the failures—since they know a human life is at stake.

The future conduct of the air depends as surely on the engineer in his shop, the draughtsman at his desk, the scientist at his figures, as on the skill and care and courage of the pilot handling the delicately poised air machine.

When Grahame White has unearthed an

Is This the Cocked Hat?

(From the New York Sun.)

"Would that we could do something at once dignified and effective, to knock Mr. Bryan once for all into a cocked hat." [From Mr. Wilson to Adrian Joline, Esq., on April 29, 1907.]

NOTHING CAN HARM IT, THEN THE HARDEST HALF of his tremendous task he will have successfully accomplished.

WORKING FOR PEACE.

Winston Churchill, England's first lord of the admiralty, has found a use for old world monarchs, when he assigns them to the office of peace-keepers for the continent of Europe. The only question is whether they are capable of filling the role. As to their willingness there seems to be no doubt.

Most of the world's great wars have sprung not so much from the ambition of rulers as from the passions of peoples; so a king, even though he be only a figure-head, while he has the last word as to declaring war, can act as an effective brake on the chariot wheels of Mars. One single man would indeed have to possess the brutality of Nero or the genius of Napoleon to set millions of strangers tearing at one another's throats.

No one could suppose the domesticated, gentlemanly George of England is anxious to incur this responsibility. And if George is willing to preserve peace, William of Germany is capable of enforcing it. So the willing Englishman and the capable German, will they but pull together, can prevent any spreading of the flames lighted by the belligerent little Balkan states.

France, too, is throwing the weight of her strength and her statesmanship on the side of an amicable settlement of the vexed eastern question. How great a part the unseen influence of the United States is playing for this same desirable end only those in the inner circles of international diplomacy and finance at present have any idea of. America has filled many proud positions in the history of the world, but none nobler than this: That she has made peace on earth, good will toward men, the dearest wish of her cosmopolitan sympathy.

REVENGE.

There is a fine specimen of kindergartner reasoning in the columns of a steamed Progressive contemporary. It says, concerning the defeated proposition to abolish free lunches: "It is probable, however, that there was a misunderstanding on the part of many voters in regard to this proposition, and a large number of the voters that were recorded against it really intended to go the other way."

This touching tribute of our steamed contemporary to the non-intelligence of its readers reminds one of David Sibley's analysis of the character of Judas Iscariot.

"The fault of Judas," said the reverend doctor, "was his ignorance. If he had known better he would have done better."

The editorial and reportorial staff of our steamed Progressive contemporaries may revenge themselves upon the saloon-keepers in a way that will at once sooth the wounded pride of the scribes and bring the discomfiture and shame of insolvency to the vendors of liquid damnation. At high noon the newspaper boys might divide into squads and repair to the saloons in the vicinage. Then the soup tureens would soon be branded with Mary Thompson's initials, the bread and cold meat platters, would look as if a Kansas cyclone had struck them, the crackers, cheese, pickles and olives would be emptied into coat pockets, and then Toopious would lead half of the band to the door without buying anything, and the other half would lean against the bar and call for soda water.

DUCAL GOOD MANNERS.

[From the London Globe.] The eighth annual report of the Metropolitan Water Board states that the total amount of water supplied by that body during the year ended March 31, 1911, was $2,170,000,000 gallons, representing a weight of 366,500,000 tons and a daily average of 225,000,000 gallons.

The total volume of water abstracted from the Thames was 49,862,000 gallons, the remainder being obtained from the泰晤士河, from gravel beds, natural springs and wells. The supply from the last named source amounted to 14,484,600,000 gallons.

The month in which most water was supplied was June, the difference between the daily average of that month and that for January being 35,000,000 gallons or 5,000,000 gallons per head of the estimated population of the board's area, which is 7,099,871. The average daily supply per head throughout the year was 21.57 gallons, a decrease from 31.35 gallons in 1909-10.

THE NEW MAUD MULLER.

Maud Muller on a summer's day

Raked the meadow sweet with hay.

The Judge rode slowly down the lane,

Smoothing his horse's chestnut mane.

He had been coming many a week

And thought at last it was time to speak.

And so the Judge said, "Maud, let's go

Out West and live in a bungalow."

She was willing; without delay

They went to the station and rode away.

And now they live in Los Angeles Town.

The happy Judge and the maid so brown.

And the only sad words in their repertoire

Are "Why on earth didn't we do it before?"

—John G. Whittier.

Upon taking leave of Mr. Whittier he insisted that I look up Mr. Longfellow, and I was very glad that I did so, for I had

PRAISE FROM PARNASSUS.

World's Greatest Poets Give Their Views on Los Angeles and Southern California.

A PARODY BY HAVEN CHARLES HURST.

"Undoubtedly the world has lost much through the fact that so many of its great men of letters have passed to the beyond without having seen California. To make good in part for this deficiency in our literature recently, through special arrangements with the editor of Physical Research, was admitted for a season to the spirit world. There I successfully interviewed the elect; all were interested in Los Angeles, and each gladly gave me a verse or two in the style peculiar to himself.

THE TOURIST BLACKSMITH.
Under a spreading pepper tree
The new-come tourist stands;
A mighty tickled man is he,
With orange juice on his hands;
And he pricks himself with brawny arms
As he thinks of wintery lands.

His bills are crisp and green and long,
He spends them like a man;
This coin he earned with honest sweat,
He spends where'er he can;
And looks Los Angeles in the face
For he owes not any man.

Week in, week out, from morn till night
You can see his auto go,
Along the pine-clad mountain roads
In the vales below;
And often see him scotching home
When the evening sun is low.

Thanks, thanks to thee, my worthy friend,
For the lesson thou hast taught;

When at the flaming forge of life
My fortune has been wrought,

I'll spend it all in touring here
Without a second thought.

—Henry W. Longfellow.

Immediately I left—for my time was coming limited—he bidding me Godspeed I was retracing my steps to the extreme of the realm, when I bade farewell to Browning and Swinburne, strolling arm in arm. What luck! I unluckily my writing pad. Just then the boat sounded for the last ferry across the bay and how I ran!

ures that a defense is a needless encumbrance.

If McCarty forces Flynn to come up to him and do the leading—something he is sure to do almost invariably—out of his own volition, meets him with a straight left and then brings that crushing right uppercut into play, well, I don't know exactly what the result will be, but James is likely to suspect that he has been in a fight.

A Day With McCarty.

Just a few more words about Luther's appetite, and something regarding his daily regime. He eats as much as a laboring man three times a day, and then throws in enough extra to meet the keen craving of a growing boy. Luther's appetite got him into trouble while back.

When he first landed in Venice, he made a contract with a boarding-house to feed him until training quarters were established. Luther was allowed to linger just three days. The landlady found that he was eating three large sparing partners.

Thus we have three of the chief characteristics of Billy McCarty's hopeful. Luther has a large appetite, a powerful kick and an abiding willingness to pull any and all sparing partners that may be let loose in slaughter. On his showing yesterday, these things just about let McCarty aside from his amazing fondness for food. It is Luther's "larry" Queenberry meets that was the wallop, which looms largest among his up that laid Morris and Kaufman low, and it is on the wallop that McCarty is banking for success in the Flynn undertaking.

As for the "mac," it is hardly a second Jim Corbett, not yet, anyway. But the bing! When it comes to that, he is wonderfully endowed, both brawn and starboard.

For the unfortunate who inadvertently protrude their "bean" within the orbit of Luther's left or right. He could fell an ox with either hand.

FINE WORKOUT.

The big fellow yesterday worked out for two hours and twenty minutes in Peter's gymnasium before a large crowd, including a party of newspaper minnows, chaperoned by T. Jasper McCarty.

Luther wasted the wind out of a couple of perfectly sized punching bags, manipulated the massive medicine ball, played with the pulleys and wound up by boxing ten rounds. Bill Young, Bill McClain and Walter Monahan serving as the pieces of resistance.

The medicated sphere is a large concern weighing about as much as a sack of wheat. Luther insisted on gallily tossing this about until McClain and Monahan, who were parties to the fun, had to step in and take up the job if he didn't take a recess.

Once the big ball caught McCarty squarely on the jaw. The jar would have floored the average man. The ball simply slid off "Mac's" maxillary, and the big fellow didn't so much as blink.

Young and McCarty shewed but little concern for each other's welfare. For four rounds the ring creaked under 480 pounds of them combined avoidiposis.

McClain, former amateur heavyweight champion of the Pacific Coast, weighed 200 pounds while McCarty was 180.

Monahan and McCarty mixed it in lively fashion in the four-round winding-up. Both were sweating and fatigued, and had to be cautioned. Monahan felt a dozen right uppercuts graze his chin, any one of which would have meant slumber for him had it connected.

This appears to be McCarty's prime blow, and is probably the one with which he plans to execute Flynn.

"Mac" has another dandy wallop. It is a left round to the body, but I am afraid to think that he does not appreciate it full value.

McCarty's defense appears to be far from invulnerable. As nothing seems to hurt him, possibly he fig-

WOLGAST TO GET RETURN MATCH.

BY Wireless Line to The Times
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 4.—[Special Dispatch.] In a telegram to a local fight critic, Billy Nolan, manager of Willie Ritchie, says that the new champion will give Ad the first chance at the title. Nolan wired that Ritchie would crawl through the ropes on Declaration Day. The battle will be staged before the club offering the best purse.

"Of course we want the match that promises the most money," Nolan wired. "If a battle with some other fighter looks better than a return scrap with Wolgast we will accept it. We could take on Ad later."

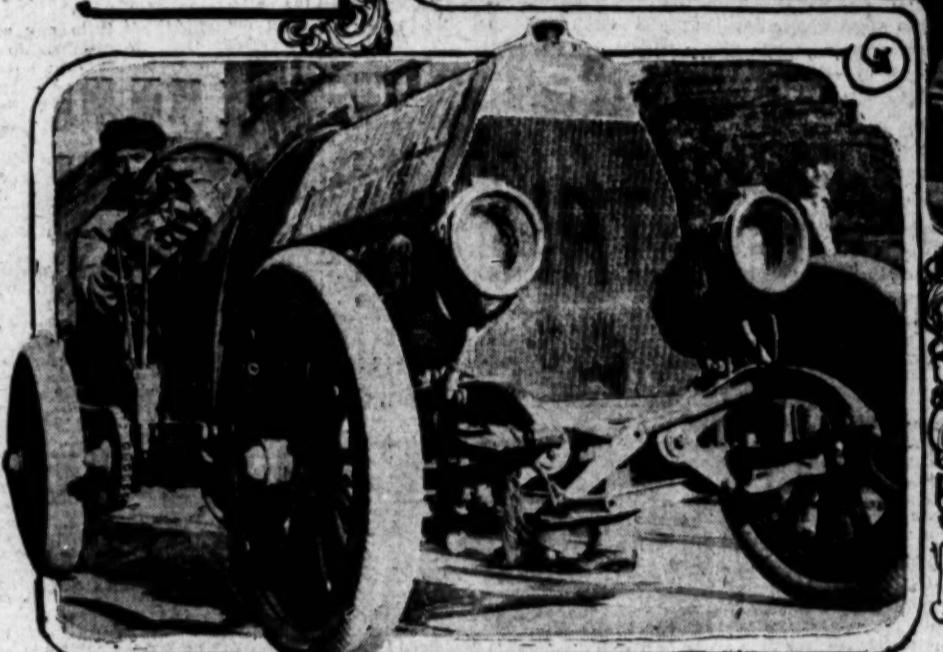

When little Willie Hopus can weigh 22 1-2 in a 400-point game, I say to see what is the use of the balance of us mutts trying to learn to play the game and calling ourselves champions of Spring street. If we ever do learn to play some fellow will come along and beat us.

The Coney Island Jockey Club has decided that it will take a chance on getting the race gambling game revived again in New York and has announced that it will be on Dec. 15. The persons in this country seem to have gotten themselves into the habit of putting their money into land and not betting it on 2 to 1 shots that will call some of the greatest drivers in the world into the list.

TIMES-CHRONICLE SCOUT CAR COMPLETES TOUR.

Routes of the Valley and Coast Are Explored on Run to San Francisco and Back Again With Men of the Cities Boosting for a Race That is Sure to Be Held on July Fourth With Bay City as the Finish.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

WITH thousands of enthusiastic racing fans ready for work for the Los Angeles-San Francisco road race The Times-Chronicle scout car reached here yesterday covered with the dust of several counties.

The men of the valley towns want the race. The people of the coast cities say it must come by way of Salinas, Paso Robles and Santa Barbara. With energetic merchants, autoists, civic authorities and fans prepared to do their utmost, the contest can be held July 4 with Los Angeles as the starting point and San Francisco as the finish.

The reception tendered to Teddy Tetzlaff and the 120-horse-power Fiat yesterday was unique. The car was paraded through the streets at the busy hour of the afternoon. The throng lined the sidewalks to tender an ovation to the great driver and the plan for the contest met with instant favor when it was explained to the authorities. There will be no difficulty in arranging matters for the start and now that the routes have both been explored the data of the trip will be given in the pink on Sunday when all reports are compiled.

Four score of the latest model motor cars, with Barney Oldfield in a Knox; and Bob Burman in the Biltmore Benz, met The Times-Chronicle scout car this afternoon after the run over the Coast route. Teddy Tetzlaff, one of the greatest road race drivers in the world, was at the wheel of the big 120-horse power Fiat which was driven from Santa Barbara over the Rincon route, in three hours. The reception was hearty.

Jim Flynn should not feel sore about the advertising Luther McCarty is getting for the big fight next Tuesday. Jim does not need it for he has been knocked out by The Times Building where a cordon of police was required to keep the traffic moving. The automobiles were grouped at First and Broadway when the hood of the big Fiat shot through the mouth of the Broadway tunnel. The red car slid down the hill to the meeting place and the procession was formed.

Capt. Murray of the Los Angeles police force with Lieut. Butler, in charge of the traffic, took charge of all arrangements. Bob Robinson, in the Stoddard-Dayton Silent Knight, was given the place of honor. The pageant moved south on Broadway to Second street and west on Second to Olive, where it continued along automobile route. The Fiat came Oldfield in the "Little S" Knox. This is a touring car, but Barney won some of his greatest stock car records with this machine and the great driver chose the handsome six-cylinder even though his friend had a more powerful engine driving the fierce looking Benz racer.

Lyn Buxton followed the Benz with the new Moon Racer, a handsome car, and Al Faulkner drove the Mercer, a record-breaking racer that has appeared in a number of contests. He was followed by Walter Brown of the State agency who drove the new State racer, one of the latest sensations. Then followed a long line of cars that extended four blocks and the racing policemen guessed for an hour.

The tour of The Times-Chronicle pathfinder has been eventful. The Valley route looks the best, but it is too early to make a final report. The route along the Valley is a total distance of 496 miles. There is much more money in sight if the race is held by way of Bakerfield and Fresno.

As to the Coast route the men of Salinas say the race must be held that way. They are ready to offer a considerable sum of money to the Mayor and city officials there are prepared to make a definite proposition. The citizens of Paso Robles and the people of San Luis Obispo. At Santa Barbara the sentiment is strongly in favor of the race but the men of the Channel City want time to consider the proposition.

Here in Los Angeles the automobile dealers are ready to listen to the proposition. They want this race and are ready to help raise money and get entries. At least fifty cars could be secured and the purse will be the largest ever raised for a race of this kind. The sentiment in favor of the race continues to grow as it has in the past two weeks, while The Times-Chronicle car has been making the rounds.

M'GOORTY AND GIBBONS DRAW.

Middleweight Bout Does Not Please New York.

Mike Classy Boxer but Shy on Hard Punch.

Oshkosh Man Very Willing and Without Science.

BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 4.—[Special Dispatch.] Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh and Mike Gibbons, the masterly boxer of St. Paul, boxed ten rounds to a draw at Madison Square Garden tonight before a crowd that packed the big amphitheater to capacity. If the number of blows landed were to count, Gibbons would have been declared the victor, but McGoorty rallied in the last four rounds with a rush so that his hard hitting and aggressiveness evened the score.

BOTH VERY TIRED.

Both fighters were tired at the end. McGoorty gasped for breath, but he had natural strength and great powers of recuperation, while Gibbons could not hold him off.

The bout did not come up to the expectations of the crowd and the gallery began hooting and howling their disapproval.

While in the finer points of style science Gibbons was all alone toward the last of the fight. McGoorty sank home a few hard blows to the body that robbed Mike of his speed and then the tide swayed slightly.

McGOORTY'S TRICKS.

In the clinches McGoorty was always his man around, forced him into corners and leaned his weight upon him, which tended to slow Gibbons up. However, McGoorty failed to show any real championship form and it is a question where he would stand in a real struggle, tearing fighter like Frank Klaas.

But in the more delicate, classic passages, Gibbons had Mac missing by a city block, floundering into the ropes and acting like a novice. Try as he would, though, Gibbons was not able to land a blow in all the numerous punches, so the bout went on for full ten rounds.

McGoorty weighed in at 155 and

PAPKE KNOCKS OUT BERNARD.

BY NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

PAPKE, the American fighter, defeated George Bernard, a French middleweight, tonight for the middleweight championship, a big purse and an ivory belt, especially designed for the occasion.

Papke was awarded the decision in the seventh round, when the Frenchman was unable to respond to the call of time.

Bernard, who was announced as "France's last hope," never had a chance. In the first five rounds, Papke allowed him to do all the work, but the Frenchman was unable to do any appreciable harm. In the sixth, Papke began to fight in earnest. The Frenchman went to the floor twice, just managing to struggle to his feet within the ten seconds, but he was in such a state of collapse that when the seventh round was called, he could not leave his chair and the referee called him out.

Here in Los Angeles the automobile dealers are ready to listen to the proposition. They want this race and are ready to help raise money and get entries. At least fifty cars could be secured and the purse will be the largest ever raised for a race of this kind. The sentiment in favor of the race continues to grow as it has in the past two weeks, while The Times-Chronicle car has been making the rounds.

MINERS BLAST OUT QUAKERS.

Visitors Have No Trouble With Whittier.

College Boys Cannot Stop Line Plunging.

Superior Weight and Fine Interference Win.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

Mines, 22; Whittier, 7. Superior weight and splendid interference won for the Colorado School of Mines in the football battle with the Whittier Quakers yesterday afternoon on Hadley Field. The Quakers played a great open game, but the defense of the Whittier team was not strong enough to stop the consistent backs and end runs of the plunging Miners. Straight football was all the Miners seemed to know.

The Rocky Mountain team held the ball during the greater portion of the game and when Whittier had it, which was seldom, the mountaineers had an awful time locating the football. Whittier won the toss and kicked off in the west end of the field. McGuire sent the ball whirling to Newlin, who covered thirty yards before it was downed.

Finch and Chambers pulled off a cross-cross and Finch shot a forward pass to Newlin, who had a ten-yard gain. Another forward pass, Finch to Hobbs, netted thirty-five. This put the ball on the Miners' ten-yard line. Here the mountain line held and McGuire punted forty yards out of danger.

Finch tried to make another forward pass, but it was smacked, Finch and Chambers made first down on three plays. Finch and Hobbs got gains with another forward pass, a ten-yard gain, but the referee saw something and penalized the Quakers twenty yards.

WHITTIER SCORES.

Cammack called another forward pass. Out of the mass came the ball into McCaslin's arms and that young gun turned his way and scored. In three of two quarters and went over the line after a great forty-nine-yard run. Chambers kicked the goal. Score: Mines, 7; Whittier, 7.

Mines kicked off after the score and Finch came in forty yards.

The Pats failed to gain, and Finch punted for thirty yards. The four Miner backs now began to plow up the line and soon had the Quakers wavering. McClellan and McGuire were around the ball and the game, while the center of the line was plowed by Weunisch and Woolf for small gains.

Again the Quakers fought back and finally McGuire made a ten-yard cross and left the forward line. Then the little giant quarterback, Woolf, hunched over the line for the first Mines' touchdown, but missed the goal. Score: Whittier, 7; Mines, 7.

SECOND QUARTER.

In the second quarter the Miners struck their gait and pranced the ball over the goal line from the twenty-five-yard line on four plays. McClellan going over in the extreme corner of the field. The punt out was good, and Woolf kicked the goal, making the score: Mines, 13; Whittier, 7.

The Miners booted off again and McClellan ran in thirty yards. Finch punted and the ball was fumbled but McClellan recovered the ball on the Miners' forty-seven-yard line.

Woolf broke out with an end run for fifteen yards and Weunisch bucked center for ten. Then the Miners put the ball in the five-yard line and Woolf again dashed over for the third score. He missed the goal, boosting the score to 19 to 7.

After the kick off at the opening of the second half the Miners waited the ball to the ten-yard line but the Quakers held their own and came in for a play, but made a fake pass, which was intercepted by McClellan and it was Whittier's ball on her one-yard line.

FINCH MAKES GOOD.

Finch tried to punt out but McGuire blocked the boot. Finch saved a touchdown by falling on the ball. It was the scrummage on the twenty-yard line. Finch and Cammack made eight yards with another forward pass. Then Morris then had and Finch got off his first good boot of the afternoon.

NORTHERN SPORTS TO BUILD YACHT.

TO THE TIMES: SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—

The twenty-three-meter yacht "1915," will be designed, built, commanded, manned and raced against Sir Thomas Lipton's entry for the Lipton trophy, by Californians. Thomas L. Miller, head of the syndicate underwriting the costs, announced today that Capt. W. F. Stone, ship builder and yachtsman, will be the skipper.

"The '1915' will be designed in San Francisco," said Mr. Miller today. "We shall study the models of all the successful twenty-three-meter racers but no one of them will be duplicated."

Capt. Stone will spend the next six months in assembling the data we need. Then we will organize our syndicate. Between seventy-five and 100 men of means have volunteered to enter the syndicate but we have yet to learn how much money we shall need."

LUTHER McCARTY'S CHANCES DEPEND UPON HIS SECONDS.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

LUTHER McCARTY is somewhat of a puzzle to me. I sometimes think he will beat Flynn and then again I think he will be beaten by that roughhouse fireman.

We all know that the only way Flynn can fight is to rush in and mix things from the start. He could not keep away from Luther if he wanted to.

If Luther is seconded right, he has the greatest chance of his life to be the next champion.

If Luther with his great reach and punching powers can meet Jim Flynn when he comes to him, he can hardly miss getting him.

McCarty is a young fellow and, no doubt, susceptible to criticism when in the ring. He, being the larger man, would naturally be called upon to do the fighting, and may fall for this talk.

But if he can keep his head and not listen to any outside talk, by waiting for Flynn to come to him he should win.

Good seconding for Luther will have more to do with his chances in my opinion, than anything else.

Billy McCarney, manager of Luther, always touches wood when he says Luther will do so and so. While he is a clever manager and a well educated fellow, he is very superstitious about his charge.

He said yesterday: "I do not think Jim Flynn is a game man, and I know that McCarty is."

When asked why he thought so, he said: "I saw Jim Flynn knock out about a dozen boys in Kansas City that did not know how to hold their hands up, and bragged about it. When he knocked one of them out, he immediately said: 'Bring on some more of those boos!'

"Any man that will take advantage of young fellows that do not know anything about the game and knock them out for the pleasure of the thing, is not there for mine."

Luther McCarty is a very considerate fellow with his sparing partners and never abuses them. He will take a good hard punch before he will try to take any advantage of the boy who is there to try and help him along. McCarty is surely making friends fast at Venice and will have the whole town wishing him good luck when he starts next Tuesday night.

noon, clearing fifty yards with his kick.

Once more the Miners started for the Whittier goal. Long end runs and backs brought the ball to the Whittier twenty-yard line, and McGuire and McKnight put it on the five-yard line. The ball was in the final man and Woolf put himself over the final man for another score. Woolf missed the goal. Score: Mines, 22; Whittier, 7.

There was no more scoring in this quarter. In the last spasm the ball was rammed to the Whittier goal line. The mountain men were not to be denied and finally Fullback Weunisch was rammed over for the final score of the day. Woolf kicked it. He is then kneaded, rubbed, patted and given a sharp exert.

Critics Witness Workout.

McCarty's workout was watched by several keen critics of the game. Among the sporting celebrities in the gallery were Tom Morris, Tom McGrath, Dr. E. J. Boeske, captain of the Santa Barbara team, saying that he would be unable to come to Pasadena for the practice game as it had planned. Dr. Boeske has broken his ankle and will not be able to play at the present time. He expected to be in shape for the Fall River tournament in the Santa Barbara team, composed of four Boeskes, will play then.

Dr. Boeske owns the famous pony, Blueknob, which is considered one of the best ponies here. The Comodoro of last year, Blueknob was hurt and is just now getting into good shape.

The Boeskes will bring Blueknob and twelve other ponies south with them. Five of the other ponies are registered thoroughbreds.

The Santa Barbara team is always one of the best mounted teams in the tournaments Dr. Boeske is very modest about his horses. He said in the letter to the Daily Journal of Tom McGrath, Dr. Witt Van Court, Ad Wolgast, Tom Jones, George Hislop and Bill Smith, brother of the late Pittsburgh Phil.

The instant the Bull Young was used in McGrath's business was not believed it, said Tim, "but that fellow only weighed 110 pounds when he began drinking Shasta water."

McCarty Unlike Jeff.

McCarty has been likened to a second Jeff. They are both Jeffs. There is but little resemblance between them. Both of them are large, but there the likeness ends.

When Jeff started his ring career he was heavier than McCarty. In those days Jeffries entered the ring at about 220 pounds, while McCarty's best weight is probably about 205. Luther impresses one as supple and rangy, while Jeffries was ponderous and clumsy, built along lines that made him seem even more huge than his poundage indicated.

He is much faster than Jeffries was at the same stage of his career, and can probably run with either hand. The former champion Jeffries looks capable of the tremendous all-around physical power of the latter. However, with his superior speed he might be developed into a real tank machine as the former tank builder.

In disposition the men are as far removed as the poles. Jeffries is stern and taciturn, almost morose. McCarty is carefree and light-hearted as a schoolboy. His smile hardly wears off even in his savage moments.

Manager of Burnman Says He Will Force the Flat Man to Race With Bob or Will See to It That Tetzlaff Is Barred from Racing by the A.A.A.—Can He?

BY BERT C. SMITH.

E. A. Moross, manager for Bob Burnman, plans to give Teddy the shock of his life at Ascot Park Saturday. He says that Tetzlaff will either drive a race or he says he will do his best to spoil the Oldfield-Tetzlaff match at the Motordrome. Moross is fiery and his incendiary is directed toward Teddy now, but is to turn full blaze on Oldfield this coming week.

Tetzlaff will not race Burnman Saturday. He is billed to race Oldfield at Ascot Saturday. If he fails to start, Moross will appeal to the A.A.A. Contest Board, and attempt to have Tetzlaff suspended until after the date of the Motordrome meet.

POLO PLAYER LIKES CLIMATE.

Says California Is Ideal Place for Game.

Milburn Logical Leader of American Team.

Santa Barbara Not to Come to Pasadena Now.

BY BEATRICE BRYAN.

Norman E. Mack of the Chamber of Commerce of Buffalo, and who is in California choosing a site for the New York State building at the Panama Exposition, talked about polo, at the Maryland Hotel Tuesday.

Mr. Mack is a polo enthusiast. He said that California is the ideal country for polo, as it is the only place where the game can be played the entire year.

He does not think it in any way remarkable that the membership of the Pasadena Polo Club is the largest one in America. He said that in the East, California ponies were looked upon as the best possible ponies for polo.

Speaking of Harry Payne Whitney's resignation as captain of the All-American team, Mr. Mack said that Devereaux Milburn will undoubtedly be made captain of the team.

Devereaux Milburn was born and brought up in Buffalo, and Mr. Mack is very proud of the fact. He considers him the best polo player in the world. Milburn plays back on the team. When the American team played in England and brought back the International cup, Buckmaster, of the English team, who is considered a remarkable player, and who will be captain of the team, said he had never seen goals defended with so much skill as Milburn displayed.

Mr. Mack believes that, under the leadership of Milburn, the Americans will win the cup next year.

Dr. E. T. Malabar, secretary of the Pasadena Club, has received a letter from Dr. E. J. Boeske, captain of the Santa Barbara team, saying that he will be unable to come to Pasadena for the practice game as it had planned. Dr. Boeske has broken his ankle and will not be able to play at the present time. Mr. Wad Saw the Poor Boob That Perpetrates Him Yesterday--But it Didn't Do Him Any Good!

THE DIARY OF A CHAMPION.

Extracts from the Daily Journal of Willie Coul-bane, the Illustrious Champion of the World—His Thoughts and His Fights.

Harrah! Yesterday I won the championship of the world!

I am now training hard to preserve my championship honors. I learned, when a rap comes at the front door, to duck out the door and disappear into the woods before the sound of the knocking.

I am now fighting nightly in defense of my championship. Last night I rang for a glass of ice water and fought the bellboy to see whether I should tip him or not. I won.

I am still adding to my laurels as a champion of the world. Yesterday I acted in a moving picture drama and my part was to knock out. The miserable ham actor who took the other part refused to be knocked out, however, unless I gave him an extra dollar. I finally settled with him for 75 cents and he laid down. It's great to be a champion of the world.

More honors and more laurels strew my path as a champion of the world. This morning, I got a job in vaudeville. I punch the bag two minutes; then I make a curtain speech telling the audience how great I am.

Horror! A shadow has come into my life. It is so terrible I dare not even think of it—much less write it in this diary.

More trouble! This terrible thing still haunts me! Why was I ever born?

I can conceal it no longer. This is the trouble that haunts me: McCarey wants me to take part in a real fight.

More trouble to torture me. Tom McCarey has sent me a telegram offering me a fight.

Still going, but faster.

Horrible shock. I met a telegraph messenger face to face in the street this morning. I thought he looked in my direction. It may have been my fevered imagination.

On second thought I am pretty sure he looked at me. I must go.

A letter was thrust under my door this morning. I recognized handwriting of Tom McCarey. I must fly again. Is there no place in the world where I can rest my weary head?

I can stand this no longer. When I passed the postman this morning I reached in his bag as though to take out a letter.

I want fight somebody or give up my meal ticket.

Al, I have an idea. How strange that this never occurred to me before.

I have wired to the littlest, puniest training partner that I ever had. I am going to fight him. I used to hammer him around when we were training partners. I guess he couldn't hurt me. I am going to stand him, on his honor as a gentleman, not to hurt me.

My hopes are all dashed to the ground. It occurs to me that my partners would never stand for me fighting my training partners.

Why, how easy. How funny that I didn't think of this before. I have him fight under an assumed name.

Great! The newspapers have found it out. Now, I suppose those fellows offering me a real fight will begin coming again. Why ever born into this weary world?

Def. Thrown Out.

OLDFIELD WELCOMES ALL NEAR CHAMPIONS.

BY BARNEY OLDFIELD.

STILL champion, and anyone who wants to take my honors from me, I will not let him. This is the right of every champion. Burman is sincere in his desire to meet me in a race he can win, and I am not afraid to meet him for the free-for-all. The Motorcross Decatur December 14 and 15. I have already agreed to meet Terry Tetzlaff in the free-for-all, and most cordially invite Burman to enter. While speaking of Tetzlaff, it should be noted that the public that while he and I meet in actual competition, the affair at Ascot will be different. Tetzlaff and Burman will be on the track at different times and will not drive the same distances, so there will be nothing competitive in their performances.

NAVIN BEGINS EARLY.

President Navin of the Tigers has begun his threatened clean-up. The release of Catchers Kocker and Onslow is expected to be followed by the release of Pitcher George Mullin. Navin and Manager Jennings hope to make a few trades at the American League meeting.

They are absolutely without Norman's gate by leading meeting here next week.

To Be or Not to Be.

PASADENA HIGH SCHOOL CLAIMS CHAMPIONSHIP.

BY AL G. WADDELE.

PASADENA HIGH SCHOOL claims the interscholastic football championship of California and will bring South Denver High School eleven to the Coast for a game to be played in Los Angeles on Christmas Day, for the high school champion of the West if satisfactory arrangements can be made.

Coach R. C. Diggins says the triple tie between Santa Ana, Long Beach and Pasadena has no effect on the championship standing. Last year Pasadena won the championship; and the coach insists that his men are still champions and will hold the title until they are defeated.

The Pasadena coach further declares that the meeting called for Friday night at the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A., for the purpose of deciding the referee did not blow his whistle, is true; and the ball therefore was not dead and the score should have been allowed.

The play occurred, the referee was not in a position where he could see the ball thrown to the ground. He called upon the umpire for testimony and that official ruled that as the whistle had not blown the ball was not dead and the score should be allowed. The referee then declared the game legal and his decision was final.

HOW THEY STAND.

Long Beach played seven games and won six. Santa Ana won six out of seven also. Pasadena played seven games and won six and tied one. The tie game was, of course, no contest, making it six out of seven and a triple tie. Diggins claims that the rule which applies to a tie game applies also to the championship tie; and as there is "no contest" the game must be decided to the last or winning the championship, while last season is still Pasadena's and she has the right to meet the Colorado prep champions for the title of the West.

Pomona College held the intercollegiate football championship under the same system. The Claremont College won the title, and although tied two seasons, held the championship until defeated.

The rule which covers this is, "The referee shall have general oversight and control of the game. He shall be the sole authority for the score, and the rules of football shall govern under the rules." The decision of the referee on all matters not specifically designated under the duties of other officials, shall be final."

It is claimed that the referee did not blow his whistle when the Pasadena man carrying the ball was on the ground while in the grasp of an opponent, as he should have done, and his protest would be ridiculous.

DOPE ON PROTESTS.

A protest of any game must be entered by one of the contesting teams. Long Beach was not a contesting team and therefore has no right to protest the game. San Diego has no right to protest the game and the referee did not blow his whistle, as was allowed by the referee; and whether the touchdown which won the game was scored fairly or unfairly, there is no appeal from the referee's decision, and, after leaving the field, the referee may not, under any circumstances, reverse his decision.

SOCIETY WOMAN USES HER FISTS?

Negress Cook Alleges She's Victim of Assault.

Club to Make Paradise More Liable.

Will of Real Estate Man Written in Bible.

PASADENA, Dec. 5.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Warrants have been issued by Justice of the Peace McDonald for the arrest of "Jane Doe" Wolfskill, who, her son admitted last night, is Mrs. John Wolfskill of No. 222 Arroyo Terrace, on charges of battery and disturbing the peace. The complaining witness is Neely Hamilton, a negro, who lives at Green and Dolores streets, and was formerly at the Wolfskill's.

The colored woman complained that a week ago last Tuesday she called at the Wolfskill residence to collect some pay she alleged to have due her. She has been ill with pneumonia and in a hospital for some time. She said that she was asked to enter the house and that Mrs. Wolfskill had then accused her of being a thief, and, preventing her from leaving the room, finally struck her in the face.

Moreover, she maintains that she was called disagreeable names and was threatened with a great personal offense if she had not been told that she would be cut up into mince meat. She says that the mark on her face may not show very plainly as she is of so dark a complexion.

The woman is the widow of the man of Constable Hillary Newell. He said that he made an effort to serve them yesterday afternoon but did not find the person, whose arrest she was looking for.

An effort was last night to procure a statement from Mrs. Wolfskill was productive only of a decidedly emphatic statement from her son. He said to representatives of the press: "Just keep your shirts on until the case comes to trial; then you can hear it all from the witness stand. That is all I have to say."

The Wolfskill residence is one of the handsome houses in the most fashionable part of the city, just off Orange Grove Avenue, facing the Arroyo Seco.

"NO PAINT THE LILY." With the making of Oak Knoll "more livable" as its object, the Oak Knoll District Association has been formally organized in that neighborhood of Pasadena. It now has about thirty-five members and will at once enter into active work in improving conditions in Oak Knoll and preserving the woodland beauty of the place.

The fact that this residential section, which lies with South Arange Grove Boulevard on the richness of improvement, and as a fashionable neighborhood, is considered of some importance in the country, members of the new organization are of the opinion that there is room for improvement.

"We are out to make this neighborhood more livable," said W. D. Murphy, secretary and treasurer of the association, last night. "We want an improvement in the car service. We also want an improvement in the express service. While I am, of course, editing extreme instances, it is a fact that residents here have paid as much to procure express service from Pasadena as would come from the same to Pasadena from Chicago."

"Then we are thinking of paving the streets in Oak Knoll, and before any payment is made, we want the work completed. We want to have all of the wires put under ground and all of the gas and water mains, and the lateral in complete order, so that there is no tearing up of the streets afterward."

Pomona Masonic Lodge held its annual meeting and election of officers at Masonic Temple last evening. The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed the organization to be in a prosperous condition with the members. Officers elected were as follows: C. R. Hutchings, Worshipful Master; Harry Russell, Senior Warden; A. J. Choi, Junior Warden; Charles M. Stone, Treasurer, and W. C. Fletcher, secretary.

Acting Lodge Knights of Pythias has elected the following officers to serve the lodge for the ensuing year: C. McIntyre, Chancellor Commander; W. W. Taylor, Past Master; W. Newmyer, Master of Works; W. Burke, Keeper of Records and Seal; F. W. Taylor, Master of Finance; W. M. Stroud, Master of Eschequer; John H. Lee, Trustee; Kirk Thorpe; Edward G. Ford, Past De Arman, Outer Guard; C. W. Guerin, George W. Cobb and T. W. Patterson, Auditing Committees.

WITNESSES WILL IN BIBLE.

The will of Thomas R. Cobb, who died on the 29th inst. at his home, No. 298 South Berkeley Avenue, was filed for probate in Los Angeles County yesterday. It was written in the name of his wife, Mrs. Thomas R. Cobb, who died in 1904. The will was witnessed by his son, Frank Wallace, and his wife, Torry Everett, comprising the board of directors.

By the terms of the will all of the deceased's estate is left to his wife. On the reverse side of the paper are references to many quotations from the Scriptures.

Makepeace was a well-known real estate man of Pasadena, and before his death, some time before his death, he was secretary of the B. O. Kendall Company. He was 44 years of age and left a widow and six children.

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP.

The membership of the Tournament of Roses Association is now well on towards the goal that was set for the 1913-1914 members. There are now 400 members, and each day brings many new names to the membership roll.

Much attention is being given by the association to the improvement of the city, and the members are being sent out by hundreds.

The directors of the Board of Trade yesterday determined to give substantial aid to school children who are preparing footings for the County Highway Commission to which W. H. Burnham, who has resigned. The Board of Supervisors will make the appointment tomorrow.

FROST SIGNAL SYSTEM WORKS.

THREE THOUSAND ACRES UNDER WATCHMAN'S PATROL.

Greatest Danger Expected from No Middle of January—South Side Civic Association Formed for Betterment of City—New Criminal Classification Ordered by Council.

POMONA, Dec. 4.—The new frost signal system through the medium of the local Home Telephone Company, is being worked satisfactorily by the Pomona Valley Orchard Protective Association over 3000 acres of citrus lands in this vicinity, being divided into three districts, each in charge of a special agent who will patrol the roads on a motorcycle and report the temperature in several localities in this section at different times during the night and early morning hours.

The report made to the Pomona Fruit Growers Exchange packing-house on North Park Avenue, where J. Adamson, specially appointed United States government weather observer, is on duty from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the evening, to send messages to the telephone operators if it is deemed necessary to arouse the orange groves to start their smudge pots.

Close watch has been kept the past two nights, when the thermometer has been playing tricks around the freezing point. On Monday night the lowest temperature recorded here was 29 deg., and last night the mercury reached as low as 27 deg. in extreme cold, with the sun rising at 6 a.m. and the conditions showed that there was little danger, so the warning was not sounded.

The greatest frost danger is from now until the middle of January. The weather observer is so well organized now that little apprehension is felt by those growers who are equipped with "smudge" pots. There are 1500 ready for use here.

The weather observer, who is the head of the Civic Association, is the man of Constable Hillary Newell. He said that he made an effort to serve them yesterday afternoon but did not find the person, whose arrest he was looking for.

THREE THOUSAND ACRES UNDER WATCHMAN'S PATROL.

Greatest Danger Expected from No Middle of January—South Side Civic Association Formed for Betterment of City—New Criminal Classification Ordered by Council.

POMONA, Dec. 4.—The new frost signal system through the medium of the local Home Telephone Company, is being worked satisfactorily by the Pomona Valley Orchard Protective Association over 3000 acres of citrus lands in this vicinity, being divided into three districts, each in charge of a special agent who will patrol the roads on a motorcycle and report the temperature in several localities in this section at different times during the night and early morning hours.

The report made to the Pomona Fruit Growers Exchange packing-house on North Park Avenue, where J. Adamson, specially appointed United States government weather observer, is on duty from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the evening, to send messages to the telephone operators if it is deemed necessary to arouse the orange groves to start their smudge pots.

Close watch has been kept the past two nights, when the thermometer has been playing tricks around the freezing point. On Monday night the lowest temperature recorded here was 29 deg., and last night the mercury reached as low as 27 deg. in extreme cold, with the sun rising at 6 a.m. and the conditions showed that there was little danger, so the warning was not sounded.

The greatest frost danger is from now until the middle of January. The weather observer is the man of Constable Hillary Newell. He said that he made an effort to serve them yesterday afternoon but did not find the person, whose arrest he was looking for.

An effort was last night to procure a statement from Mrs. Wolfskill was productive only of a decidedly emphatic statement from her son. He said to representatives of the press: "Just keep your shirts on until the case comes to trial; then you can hear it all from the witness stand. That is all I have to say."

The Wolfskill residence is one of the handsome houses in the most fashionable part of the city, just off Orange Grove Avenue, facing the Arroyo Seco.

"NO PAINT THE LILY." With the making of Oak Knoll "more livable" as its object, the Oak Knoll District Association has been formally organized in that neighborhood of Pasadena. It now has about thirty-five members and will at once enter into active work in improving conditions in Oak Knoll and preserving the woodland beauty of the place.

The fact that this residential section, which lies with South Arange Grove Boulevard on the richness of improvement, and as a fashionable neighborhood, is considered of some importance in the country, members of the new organization are of the opinion that there is room for improvement.

"We are out to make this neighborhood more livable," said W. D. Murphy, secretary and treasurer of the association, last night. "We want an improvement in the car service. We also want an improvement in the express service. While I am, of course, editing extreme instances, it is a fact that residents here have paid as much to procure express service from Pasadena as would come from the same to Pasadena from Chicago."

"Then we are thinking of paving the streets in Oak Knoll, and before any payment is made, we want the work completed. We want to have all of the wires put under ground and all of the gas and water mains, and the lateral in complete order, so that there is no tearing up of the streets afterward."

Pomona Masonic Lodge held its annual meeting and election of officers at Masonic Temple last evening. The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed the organization to be in a prosperous condition with the members. Officers elected were as follows: C. R. Hutchings, Worshipful Master; Harry Russell, Senior Warden; A. J. Choi, Junior Warden; Charles M. Stone, Treasurer, and W. C. Fletcher, secretary.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Police Commission took up Main-street bawdy-games yesterday, and revoked the second-hand permit of O. Feinstein after a long trial that showed systems for fleecing the unwary. An ordinance prohibiting soliciting on streets for trade and capers at auctions will be urged by the Police Commission to the City Council yesterday for a franchise to lay gas mains in the streets and alleys of Wilmington and San Pedro.

The Police Commission again continued the Beebe & Cohn case yesterday, this time to the point that it will rescind its former revoking the saloon license and will simply impose a fine as punishment.

The Southern California Edison Company made application to the City Council yesterday for a franchise to lay gas mains in the streets and alleys of Wilmington and San Pedro.

The Police Commission yesterday discussed further the plan of Councilman McDowell to impose a tax on transfers of saloon licenses, in order that the city may obtain a portion of the increase in valuation of these permits to sell liquor.

Carl Riedelbach, the dynamiter whose infernal machine created a panic recently at the Central Police Station, explained the workings of the thing yesterday to his attorney. The attorney said he will apply for a writ of habeas corpus, and if that is denied will ask that Riedelbach be examined as to his sanity.

POLICE COMMISSION REVOKE ONE PERMIT.

Discusses Other Concerns That Have Become Obnoxious by Persistent Trade Soliciting on Street, and That Drag Persons in to Sell Them Stuff of Doubtful Values.

Annoying and persistent solicitation of trade on the streets by certain classes of business men on Main street and fake bargains offered to the unwary were discussed freely by the Police Commission yesterday in connection with a hearing over a revocation of a second-hand-permit, which resulted in O. Feinstein losing his business to a certain T. C. Van Horn for No. 645 South Main street, and a retail liquor permit was denied Matteo Rossi for No. 450 East Fifth street.

The commission in its hearing to license the number of saloons in the vicinity of the Arcade Depot and sections used to a great degree by strangers entering the city.

Marión J. Aron's application for a temporary liquor permit for No. 654 South Main street was continued for one week. The commission granted a transfer of the retail liquor permit at No. 225 South Spring street from Folsom & Birk to Folsom & Christy.

This is in line with the gossip that has been floating around the City Hall to the effect that the Police Commission is asking the City Council to empower it to impose fines, so that the Beebe & Cohn case and allow the firm to continue its saloon on Broadway. The Mayor emphatically denied this being the motive, however, when asked about it on Tuesday. Protestants have been most anxious to retain their saloon license for the same location.

Will Prohibit Them.

The Police Commission at its session yesterday gave its approval to the suggestion of Chief of Police Sebastian that no permits be issued this year for the selling of trinkets, etc., on the streets during the holiday season. The Chief asked for a prohibition within the district between Temple and Ninth streets on Hill, Broadway, Spring and Main streets, as aid to relief of traffic congestion during that period.

Action on Liquor Permits.

At the session of the Police Commission yesterday the following actions were taken on liquor permits or applications thereto:

Becker Brothers were denied a retail liquor permit for No. 52 Main street, the location formerly held by Beebe & Cohn, but whose permit was recently revoked; and Beebe & Cohn were granted a permit of the same name for No. 52 Main street.

The Becker Brothers have conducted a saloon. It is understood that the two firms desired to transfer locations.

Jose M. Annechini was denied a permit for No. 114½ West Fourth street.

E. W. Randolph's application for a transfer for his retail liquor permit from Sixth street to No. 12½ East Seventh street was continued for one week.

A restaurant liquor permit was denied T. C. Van Horn for No. 645 South Main street, and a retail liquor permit was denied Matteo Rossi for No. 450 East Fifth street.

The commission in its hearing to license the number of saloons in the vicinity of the Arcade Depot and sections used to a great degree by strangers entering the city.

Marión J. Aron's application for a temporary liquor permit for No. 654 South Main street was continued for one week. The commission granted a transfer of the retail liquor permit at No. 225 South Spring street from Folsom & Birk to Folsom & Christy.

Considering Finances.

While no official action has been taken by the Board of Public Works on the subject of securing the funds that will be necessary for the completion of the Los Angeles Aqueduct, the commission has decided that in various phases and it is probable that from $200,000 to $500,000 will have to be secured to complete the final work.

Should the city be able to raise the amount needed, the plant at Monolith, this would give the extra funds needed, and it is stated that parties are now considering this purchase.

A considerable sum will also be raised by the city from the sale of the cement plant, the object of finishing the Patton site was to determine the matter.

APPOINT ALIENS.

COURT ORDERS EXAMINATION.

In order to determine whether Chauncey C. Rulison is able to attend Judge Wood's court today when his trial for the murder of O. E. Engstrum Company is called, the attorney for the company asked the court yesterday to appoint three aliens to examine him. Rulison's guard, alleged Rulison, is insane as a result of injuries suffered while working as a laborer for the company. The court appointed Dr. H. G. Brainerd, Dr. Ross Moore, and Dr. Thomas J. Orson to make an examination and report.

Rulison was working on a 190-foot elevator tower during the construction of the power plant for the Southern California Edison Company February 9 last, when the tower fell, rupturing his brain, his head and spine. He alleges that Rulison was negligent in furnishing defective timber for the tower. This the company denies. It also denies that Rulison is insane as the result of injuries. The trial is marked for two weeks.

DEAN'S BIG CONTRACT.

Head of U.S.C. Law School Makes Sportsman's Offer to Athletics Dinner a Point.

Frank M. Porter, dean of the law school of the University of Southern California, has shouldered what may prove to be a big contract.

The U.S.C. field meet was being discussed by several of the boys in the school yesterday, and the dean, who is anxious to promote athletic as well as education, overheard.

"I'll tell you what I will do, boys," he said. "I'll agree to give a dinner at the University Club to every man in the law school who will go into that field meet and bring out a point."

After the news had been spread about the dinner, the dean reiterated the offer, and more, he said, no matter how many men took points, he would stand by his offer.

There is a conviction about the law school that the dean is going to big depletion of the pocket-book.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

CHARGE IS INSANITY.

A threat to kill his offspring, coupled with habitual laziness, was construed by the relatives of Jefferson Russell, as evidences of insanity and a complaint was sworn out.

"Now I don't do any work when I was a boy," replied Jeff.

"But you are better able to do it now," replied the court.

"Yes, sir, I know," said Jeff, "but I am just naturally qualified to pick cotton."

Ask for Franchise.

NEIGHBORS GO TO COURT.

W. E. Cummings and Homer Laughlin, neighbors in Hollywood, could not agree as to the boundary between their properties and Laughlin filed suit to quiet title, which was called for trial June 1. Cross examination yesterday was presented to the Police Commission yesterday and was referred to the City Council.

According to Party's own admission, the restaurant business was making a profit of 400 per cent on goods when it got hold of customers who were irresponsible.

Another interesting feature appeared in the trial in regard to the methods in vogue on Main street, and when statements were made as to attempting to drown men into the store.

Commissioner Aiken declared:

"I can tell you every detail of it. I've been looking into this and last week I was dragged into five different places and barely escaped with my life on my back."

Then, when he went for his suit, he was offered a cheap coat and was given $7.50. The commission has been made that the original suit had been damaged by fire.

Same also Tim Banning, telling how he had paid $15 on a $25 pair of shoes, which he had to pay back to the store he found that the claim was made he had paid but 25 cents on the purchase. Party testified that he thought that Banning was drunk, and would never come back, so he took the 25 cents.

Urged to explain why he had taken the money, Party naively replied: "Well, lots of people buy for less on Main street, and pay us small amounts in order to get rid of us, so we won't bother them any more, to buy something."
